A better day is creating an environment where students can thrive.

Thinking, innovation, and ingenuity. That’s what we bring to students, the campus and the community. And it’s how we help to create the experience every student deserves, from safe facilities and nutritious food choices to a better learning space. That’s why so many colleges and universities partner with Sodexo, the world leader in Quality of Daily Life Solutions.

Making every day a better day
Dear Class of 2019,

It’s my distinct pleasure to welcome you back to the Virginia Wesleyan College campus for Scene II of your orientation. My first day as the new president at Virginia Wesleyan was on July 1, just last month. So, I consider this my “freshman” year here as well. Like you, I am becoming oriented to this new place and I look forward to sharing this first year experience with all of you.

Prior to becoming the fourth president of Virginia Wesleyan, I served as president of three other liberal arts colleges. And, as a graduate of a private liberal arts college myself, I commend you on choosing Virginia Wesleyan. You are about to embark on an incredible journey for the next four years -- a journey that will have a profound impact on your future.

The next few days will prepare you for the start of your journey. During Scene II you will learn more about campus life and our Wesleyan traditions, you’ll meet new friends and faculty, and gain knowledge about the many resources on campus that will support your efforts. I wish each of you a very successful experience at Virginia Wesleyan College. Achieving this success will require balance. You will be devoting a lot of energy to your studies, spending time in and out of the classroom – reading, researching, and completing assignments.

Get involved in some of the many activities on campus. From clubs and organizations to athletics and RecX, there is always something to do. From the very start, I encourage you to balance your time so that you will be successful both academically and socially.

This is also a great time to make new connections. By getting involved on campus, you will have opportunities to meet interesting people and develop relationships that will most likely last a lifetime. There are many resources and people on campus who can support you throughout your college years, so please take advantage of their expertise, services and support. Our Learning Center staff, faculty advisors, librarians, coaches, and professors are among the many people who are here to help you succeed. Starting with this first week, get to know as many people as possible.

All of us at Virginia Wesleyan College are happy that you have chosen to become a Marlin. You are now an important part of what makes this community so special. Each of you brings a positive spark to our campus that will continue to grow and develop in remarkable ways. Your years at VWC will be a life-changing experience and we’re proud to be a part of your journey.

Immerse yourself in this new learning experience. Get connected, get involved, and discover your new community. All of us are rooting for your success at Virginia Wesleyan College.

Sincerely,

Scott D. Miller, Ph.D.
President of the College

CCE IV: “CIRCLE OF SIX . . . 1 IS 2 MANY”

- Sexual Violence Workshop led by McCarren Caputa, Associate Dean of Students for Residence Life, and Jason Seward, Dean of Freshmen and Director of Batten Center
- Sexual violence is a REAL problem facing college students. One in five college women is raped during her college years. What can bystanders, men and the “other four” women, on our campus do to change this statistic?
- Participants will leave this workshop with a personal examination of their beliefs and behaviors; a basic understanding of the issues and their impact on college students; a sense of empowerment about their role as a proactive bystander; a clear understanding of the College’s policies and procedures for reporting, investigating, and addressing all issues of sexual violence; and knowledge about campus and community resources available to them.
- The presenters challenge participants to “Say Something.”

8:15-11:00 pm
Jane P. Batten Student Center

MARLIN FAMILY GAME NIGHT
After dinner, come and explore all that the Batten Center has to offer. Enjoy the swimming pool, weight room, and rock climbing wall. Jump in a game of basketball or cornhole in the C-MAC. Play ping-pong, shoot some pool, or challenge yourself to play Pop Culture Trivia in the Grille. Take advantage of the air hockey table on this night only! Play Cards Against Humanity or Jenga in the HUB lounge. Popcorn, sweets, and drinks available.
